SAVING THE BUFFALO

Report Indicates Animals Are Increasing in Number.

FIGURES NOW SHOW 2,108

New Fenced Range Established During Year in Montana.

CONTAINS OVER 18,000 ACRES

American Bison Society Gives Interesting Data—No Danger of Species Becoming Extinct.

There are now altogether 2,108 buffalo in North America. These "buffalo" are really bison, but the term buffalo has been applied so long and generally to the American bison that the term conveys more meaning to the general reader. This census of the animals is the work of the American Bison Society, that has been trying to save the breed from extinction. In comparison with former years it shows that the animals are on the increase and the annual report of the society says that the danger of the animals becoming extinct seems to have passed.

The figures given include the buffalos in the zoological gardens all over the country, the national herds, the scattered herds in private ownership and the few wild bison that are still at large.

The society states that the most notable event of the past year was the establishment of a new fenced range in Montana, where a nucleus herd of forty-seven animals was turned loose under the supervision of a game warden. The bison have gone well through the winter and the outlook for the future is promising.

Contains Twenty-Nine Square Miles.

The society worked for several years to secure the fenced reservation and the nucleus herd in Montana. The pasture comprises a tract of twenty-nine square miles, or something over 18,000 acres on the Flathead reservation. It is cut by Mission creek, quite a large stream, and has a number of smaller streams running from the hills. There are within the enclosure three very fair-sized mountains, and by William T. Hornaday, the president of the society, says that the range is as near ideal for the animals as could be secured.

The water good and there is some timber in the hills, but not more than is good for the range. The herds are housed in the winter and is connected with the outside world by a telephone running along the top of the pasture fence.

The fence itself is six feet, six inches high and is strong and durable. It was erected by the workmen of the forest service as being the cheaper and quicker way to have the work done. It is estimated that the enclosed space will easily support 1,500 bison, 500 antelope, 100 deer and 100 elk specimens of all of which are to be released.

The government now owns three good-sized herds of bison—the Montana herd, with a total of 17; the Wyoming herd, with a total of 17; the Yellowstone Park herd of 95.

Bought From Conrad Herd.

Of the recently established Montana herd 32 were bought from the herd owned by the late C. E. Conrad and his estate at Kallispell, Mont., seventy-five miles from the new range of the government herd. The purchases were made from the widow, Mrs. Alicia Conrad. They include animals from one to seven years old and are really the pick of the herd. In addition, Mrs. Conrad gave two more very fine bison, one of them Kallispell Chief, the leader of the herd.

The shipping of the herd from the Conrad ranch to the new reservation was an interesting and rather exciting experience, but was accomplished without loss. The society is very well satisfied with the present outlook of bison in America, and states that it believes the future of the breed in this country is assured.

SOLDIERS TAUGHT BAKING AND COOKING ART

War Department Authorizes Establishment of Schools in Washington and San Francisco.

The aroma of pate de beans and frappe de compagne is carried in general order No. 135 of the War Department. According to the direction of the acting chief of staff, Gen. Carter, two schools of baking and cooking are to be established for the good of the cuisine of the regular army.

The schools, one at the Presidio, San Francisco, Cal., the other at the Washington barracks, District of Columbia, are to be conducted with a view to turning out the best article of cooking ability to be found anywhere in the world.

Term of Four Months.

The term extends over four months, allowing for the graduation in three months of the especially qualified. Men who have failed to come up to the mark in four months, but who have shown promise of better things, are to be given one extra month of training.

The order stipulates that "regimental commanders will take proper steps to have at least one graduate baker available with each regiment." On the completion of the course required, graduates will receive degrees ranging from first baker to mess sergeant. Graduates of superior ability will be chosen to direct the destinies of the cooks who come in with the new classes.

CURED BY SNAKE VENOM! WRONG! MAN CONVICTED

POISON FROM RATTLESNAKE DRIVES OUT TUBERCULOSIS FARMER PUNISHED FOR CRIME HE DID NOT COMMIT.

Rochester Druggist, Given Up by Doctors, Treats Himself and Recovers Rag Picker Confesses to Murder of Children Whose Father Dies in Prison.

ROCHESTER, July 22.—Henry Hoefen, a prominent druggist of this city, who was in the last stages of tuberculosis a year ago, and who has been treating himself with crotalin, or rattlesnake venom, has been pronounced cured by the physician who told him two years ago that he could not live. Last night the same physician told him that there were no indications of active tuberculosis and that there were evidences that the cavities in the lungs had healed.

Hoefen had suffered twenty-one severe hemorrhages and was weak and emaciated. He read the story of the experiments made by Dr. Thomas J. Mays of Philadelphia, and obtained some of the poison from "Rattlesnake Pete" of this city. He prepared the doses himself and took one-fifth of a grain every four hours internally. He started to take the medicine Christmas, 1908. After taking one hundred doses showed marked improvement. Now his weight is above normal, his cough has disappeared and his lungs are healed.

Dr. Milton Chapman, who examined Hoefen two years ago and found lung lesions and tubercular bacilli in great numbers, said last night: "Hoefen's lungs are healed. His cure is exceptional, as men who are so far gone as he was seldom or never recover. His use of the venom produced such remarkable results that it justifies its use in other cases. Rochester physicians will undoubtedly use the venom for many tuberculous patients, now that its efficacy has been proved so clearly."

A number of Rochester physicians here and in the Adirondacks are taking the poison with good results. While examining a rifle at his home in Orange county, Va., John S. Swain accidentally shot his nephew, Willie Clark of Alexandria, in the forehead, inflicting a serious wound, though it is thought it will not be fatal.

Declared His Innocence. Briere stoutly maintained his innocence throughout the trial and declared that two traps entered the house during his absence and killed the children. He added that he returned while the murderers were robbing the place, and that they attacked him and left him for dead. During the trial the judge got down from the bench and gave loud expression to his opinion of the guilt of the prisoner, while the spectators shouted, "Kill him, kill him!"

A specific incident of the trial occurred when Briere's surviving daughter, who, the police declared, only escaped the fate of the other children by not responding to Briere's invitation to go to see him, went on the witness stand and sobbingly protested that her father was innocent and begged the court to restore him to her.

Special Correspondence of the Star.

ROCKVILLE, Md., July 22, 1910.

Miss Florence Lane, aged nineteen, and Mr. Matthew Fountain Bell, aged twenty-two, both of Washington, were married in Rockville Wednesday afternoon by Rev. R. R. White, a retired Baptist minister, the ceremony taking place at the home of the minister.

The annual festival and lawn party for the benefit of St. Mary's Catholic Church, at this place, was held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the grove adjoining the church. The attendance each evening was large, over $500 being cleared.

Some of those who assisted Father McGuire, pastor of the church, in making the affair a success were Mrs. Leo Offutt, Mrs. John L. Brunett, Mrs. John E. West, Mrs. William E. Morgan, Mrs. Wallace E. Ricketts, Mrs. Charles Veirs, Mrs. Roger Shaw, Mrs. Alfred Ray, Mrs. Bradley Carr, Mrs. Rhoda Espata, Misses Rose Clagett, Rose Wagner, Marie Holges, Lavinia Wagner, Eudine Conroy, Helen Brunett, Katherine Clagett, Ida Atwood, Lillian Morgan and others.

The bonds issued by Montgomery county to raise funds for the erection of public school buildings at Damascus and Cedar Grove, this county, have been sold to the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Sandy Spring, the $12,000 issue bringing $12,000.

Forty bushels of wheat to the acre is the yield reported to have been made by George F. Listhoun on his farm near Travilah, this county. A twenty-acre field yielded exactly 800 bushels, and is believed to be the heaviest crop so far threshed. Yields of from twenty-five to thirty-five bushels to the acre are being reported from all sections. The average yield is believed to be a record-breaker for the county.

SUGAR DISEASE BREEDER.

Hoboken Physician Declares Modern Product Has Degenerating Effect.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 22.—"Sugar is making of the human race a degenerate people," declared Dr. Robert Roessler, a Hoboken physician, to 600 dentists in attendance at the 26th annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental Society here last night.

"Modern manufacturing of sugar has brought about entirely new diseases, and most of these have been caused by the daily use of sugar. The sugar of commerce is nothing else but concentrated crystallized acid. If in former times sugar was so costly that only the wealthy could afford to use it, it was from the national economic standpoint of no consequence. But today, when because of its low cost, sugar has caused a degeneration of people, it is time to insist upon a general enlightenment."

"The loss of energy through the consumption of sugar in the last century and the first decade of this century can never be made good, as it has left its marks on the race. Alcohol has been used for thousands of years, and has never caused the degeneration of a whole race. Alcohol does not contain destructive acids. What has been destroyed by sugar is lost and cannot be regenerated."

The remains of Henry Zachary, the recluse found dead in his barn at Rockville, Va., Monday, having been murdered, were sent to relatives at Statesville, N. C., Thursday. The police have unearthed a clue which will probably lead to the identification of the murderer.
